Nozzles blow his cap

LIVERMORE — If Paul Stone didn't have bad luck, he wouldn't have any luck at all.

He stands placidly at the window of the Road Runner gas station at Holmes and First streets, greeting customers in his friendly Alabama drawl. It's a self - service station: You pump the discount gas yourself, then pay Paul at the window.

But his battles with the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District Board have not been as tranquil as his daily dealings with the steady stream of customers sliding past his 12 pumps.

"It's those vapor return nozzles," he'll tell you. He's taken them off and replaced them with the now "old fashioned" dispensers three

He's had to call out the fire department three times as well, asking them each time to shut down the station while he makes the switch. It took three hours this last time, and seven hours one day last year. But one time he closed for two days.

He's asking the BAAPCDB for a variance from the mandatory vapor return nozzles, those short piped models with the black rubber cap and two hoses snaking back to the pump.

The board met yesterday afternoon. At 4:30 he still had not heard the results. A board attorney said they would be filed sometime today, and a hearing on a "full variance" held March 24. Paul isn't as upset with the delays as he is with the nozzles.

"Everybody's having problems with them," he says, but his may be more water, water anywhere to drink or use otherwise, people should start dealing with the prob-lem, according to Eric Hasseltine, Contra Costa County's fifth district supervisor.

Hasseltine made this suggestion during his liaison meeting held vesterday morning at the Danville Hotel Restaurant and Saloon.

I think it would be a good idea for everyone to begin immediately to get used to rationing water," Hasseltine said. "Each individual should devise the best means to use in their situation.

He said alternatives to water rationing had been discussed among Contra Costa County supervisors, legislators, EBMUD and Contra Costa Water District (CCWD) offi-

According to Hasseltine, two of the most feasible solutions talked about involved exchanging water between CCWD and EBMUD.

"Water quality as well as quantity had to be considered," he said.

The exchange approach was based on the fact that CCWD has plenty of water but it contains too much salt. EBMUD has a limited amount of water but it is fresh, not CCWD uses Delta water. EBMUD obtains theirs from the mountains.

CCWD suggested EBMUD mix 40 million gallons of their fresh water with the CCWD saline solution. Then

CCWD would resupply EBMUD. EBMUD rejected that idea, according to Hasseltine. He said EB-MUD officials protested they did not want the quality of their water

The other proposed alternative involved letting CCWD divert water from one of the three aqueducts EBMUD uses to transport water from the mountains.

EBMUD said no to this proposal, too, according to Hasseltine.

"This water problem is the most complicated thing I've had to deal with," he said. "There are so many issues and side issues involved."

Hasseltine asked the other county supervisors to cooperate in sending a letter to EBMUD officials asking them to review the CCWD exchange proposals. The other supervisors turned him down, Hasseltine said. They contended the matter did not fall within the supervisors jurisdiction, he said.

Ray Brown's penny collection

Coin show

A lot of valuable spare change here

LIVERMORE — Millions of dollars' worth of coins — and plenty of police — will greet the public Sunday at the Holiday Inn.

It's the 14th annual coin show run by the Livermore Valley Coin Club and attended by dealers from all

According to coin club president Ray Brown, many of the 60 local members will be entering displays in the show, along with out - of - town collectors like the San Francisico man whose ancient Russian and Chinese coins will be one of the highlights.

Brown himself will show a display of pennies from around the world. "Frankly," he says, "hobbyists who want to keep their collections at home either collect foreign coins or pennies — something that doesn't have much value to a robber." Most people with valuable collections keep them in a safe deposit box which isn't much fun — or at least don't identify themselves as collectors by belonging to the coin club.

day's show will have a banquet room full of dealers buying, selling and trading not only coins but paper money and even some stamps.

There will be a "junk box" of odd coins for kids to buy for 15 cents or a quarter; and gold coins worth thousands of dollars each; and everything in between.

"Bourse," or trading, goes on not only between collectors and dealers but among the dealers themselves during a show, says Brown. "They come with lists of special coins they want for their clients. A show is the best way for them to get together with other dealers to do their own hourly drawings for those who buy tickets. Admission is free.

Woman director ousted

No more dough for county fair

Though they have appealed to the state Fair Budget Review Board, the Alameda County Fair Association is apparently going to bite the bullet and shoulder all emergency as well as regular expenses.

Fair Association Secretary - Manager Lee Hall has told directors that, despite a verbal confirmation from the state of added financial assistance, no additional funds will be allocated.

The state, in effect, has said that unless a Fair is struck and shutdown, it is "still too successful and not hurt enough to warrant added subsidies.

The Fair had sought assistance to cover two emergency expenses — $12,000 in legal debts to contest the arbitrary strike action taken by the Service Employes International Union last summer, and $6,000 necessitated to replace the pump in a well.

Hall also announced that $102,321 in premiums would be offered during the 1977 County Fair. $91,235 of this amount will go to such categories as exhibits, floriculture, photo, mineral and gem, and industrial arts, as well as the senior livestock classes, $7,383 is earmarked for 4-H categories and $3,530 for FFA.

Directors learned that Jeannette Ceremello, the first and only woman ever to serve on the Fair board, was arbitrarily removed from the board by new county supervisor John George, who last week appointed Otho Green of Oakland to take her

Only one change will be made in admission prices for the 1977 County Fair. General admission to the grandstand has been raised 25 cents to $1.50. Main gate admission remains at $2 for adults 16 and over and 50 cents for children 6-15. Half-price nights will be Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday after 5 p.m. the first week and Tuesday, Wednesday and the last Sunday, after 5, the last week.

The Fair board's entertainment committee will meet Monday at 7:30 p.m. to discuss attractions for the '77 Fair and possibly renewing participation in the Fair parade - now that the City of Pleasanton has declared no support for the "Good Times" parade

Named winners of the 1976 Outstanding Exhibit Awards were the Alameda County Cowbelles (Large groups 150 sq. feet and up) and Livermore FFA.

The annual attendance break-down (at interim Fairgrounds activities) report was presented.

Largest single-day attendance was for the annual Labor Day picnic sponsored by the County Central Labor Council, 6,000.

Total interim activities attendance for 1976 was 271,672.

BART hopefuls invited

People who want to replace Elmer Cooper as a Bay Area Rapid Transit director will be grilled in public by the BART board. BART president Barc Simpson of Walnut Creek, Thursday said he wants more applications for the seat vacated by Cooper following more than a year of controversy over his expense accounts.

And in calling for more applications, Simpson noted that all people who apply will have their qualifications questioned in public by the

Simpson was asked if that might cut down the number of people who would apply for the vacancy. So far only eight applications have been received

'If it does, they're people who shouldn't apply," Simpson replied. "If they want to be on the board, they should be willing to state their qualifications in front of God and everybody," he continued

"I want to make this board as public as possible. I'm interested in making a departure from the norm when it's in the interest of letting the public in on something," Simpson explained.
Simpson declared that BART's "politics ought to be out in the open.

Alcoholics' aid spurred

Water cut protests

East Bay water officials, deluged with complaints from customers bewildered by rationing that allows the same water use for a family of six as a one-person household, pledged Thursday to seek a more equitable program to reduce water consumption.

The East Bay Municipal Utilities District, serving more than a million persons east of San Francisco, voted rationing this week to conserve water supplies that have dropped dangerously lew in a second straight drought year.

Granada wrestlers win

Granada High School wrestlers won team championship last night while Livermore High came in second. Steve Ramos, 115 pounds, of San Ramon Valley High, was named most outstanding wrestler.

Livermore rules pool stay open

LIVERMORE — A reported nationwide natural gas shortage won't cause an immediate closing of May Nissen pool, even though recreation officials are groaning about the soaring fuel costs.

Directors of the Livermore Area Recreation and Park District Wednesday agreed that without a closure directive from the Public Utilities Commission, they would keep the pool open.

The pool is heated to 82 degrees for most uses and drops to 78 for swim meets, she said.

Directors generally agreed to review, at a later date, whether to continue winter programs. Chairwoman Lois Ellsaesser noted several people use the pool for health reasons and closure would be a hardship for them.

"Can we tolerate the cost," asked Director Marlin Pound. "People urge us not to shut the pool and yet we hear talk about conservation.'

Parks Superintendent Lowell Bergman told The Times LARPD has no problem acquiring sufficient water from Zone 7 for the pool.

Lavish praise for Arroyo Seco School

LIVERMORE — "Call us elated!"
The Arroyo Seco School staff, along with vice principal Hugh Alderdice and principal Ivan Rose, were celebrating Wednesday after being told their school's Early Childhood Education program is "exemplary."

The new program at Seco, a 250 - pupil primary school, seeks to upgrade education in the early grades. It is generously state funded and state monitored by a two - person team who spend two days at each ECE school evaluating "Our team said it was the best ECE school they'd seen," said ECE coordinator Jean Emery. Evaluating Seco were Elizabeth Allison of Moraga and Jim Barnes of Oroville.

The pair gave Seco's program a total of 22 fives — "excellent" ratings — 16 fours — "very good" — and three threes — "good" — with no "fair" or "poor" ratings.

Rose and Emery attributed much of the program's success to the spirited staff of nine teachers and countless aides and parent volunteers who put in a weekend at a workshop in Santa Cruz and pulled together in many ways.

Also credited was district office support in the persons of Ann Yankovich, ECE facilitator, psychologists and speech therapists and Kay Honodel, volunteer coordinator.

The ECE evaluation praised Seco for a "pleasant and child - centered school climate;" the "enthusiasm, devotion and commitment to the ECE philosophy" displayed by the staff; involvement of the principal, vice principal and resource teacher; "excellent participation" of parents; rapport between parents and teachers; physical education program, additional library hours and the work of volunteer coordinator Arlene Davis.

Livermore school board candidate Gail property taxes. Any time there is a non-Sidhu discussed discipline in a recent optimum use of funds, we pay more for campaign release.

"I believe," said Sidhu, "that proper discipline and individual responsibility should be an integral part of our children's education. I am opposed to corporal punishment or any form of humiliation which may do more harm than good Instead, I advocate closer home and school cooperation in instilling positive values and discipline in our children.

"Our society should put greater em-phasis on these values which have been downgraded in recent years.

"My business experience has equipped me to protect the taxpayer and citizen interests in running the schools. I am sensitive to citizen concerns that the administration load in our school system is getting out of proportion with the teaching staff. We are taxed according to the level of expenditure to be covered by the nonessentials and drain resources that can be used more effectively for the direct benefit of our students.

I recognize that the stress of contract negotiations between the administration, board and teachers extending over many months each year has an adverse effect on teacher morale and the quality of education in our schools. I would push for longer contract periods and equitable grievance procedures to create and maintain an environment in which teachers would take pride in their profession of imparting knowledge and in helping stu-dents to learn and grow.

"Finally, I would like to set up a mechanism whereby it is easier for parents or students to communicate with the teachers, the staff or the school board.

"If anyone has a special concern, I can be called at 443 - 6163 after 6 p.m.

College and public meet in laboratory

Trustees of the South County Community College District have approved an application for a National Science Foundation grant to develop a 'Science for the Citizen" project next fall at the Chabot Valley Campus.

If granted, the NSF funds would be used to fund workshops on October 8 and 29, November 5, 12, and 19. Each of the five workshops would be held on a Saturday to provide information on solar energy to architects, builders, and contractors, public agencies, including elected officials, lending or funding agencies, and homeowners. Solar energy and its implications for air pollution, zoning questions, waste water, management, recycling, and environmental management will be covered.

Also cooperating in the program are personnel from the Lawrence Livermore Laboratory, who will be used as consultants and resource persons in developing and designing the program and in contacting speakers and workshop leaders. The laboratory will also be available for sites to be used for field trip excursions.

"We saw this as an opportunity to get the educators and research people together in a cooperative way," Dr. Barbara Mertes, Dean of the Valley Campus, explained. "It is a marvelous opportunity to bring the college and community together."

The Valley Campus will use the knowledge presented through the workshops to design and implement short courses or regular courses on solar energy to be offered in the 1978 winter and spring

A day for volunteers to exchange ideas

School volunteer coordinators from the Livermore, Pleasanton and Murray school districts shared program ideas Wednesday at a morning gathering organized by the Valley Volunteer Bureau.

Donna Allen, volunteer at Livermore's Marylin Avenue School, shared her experiences and feelings as a volunteer and Kay Honodel, coordinator of Livermore school volunteers, reviewed the recent state conference on school volunteers held in Oakland.

Among the subjects discussed Wednesday were the effectiveness of high school student volunteers, incorporating senior citizens into school programs, terms of service for volunteers, role of the coordinator, recruiting, and in-service training.

Burney Liebert, volunteer coordinator at Vintage Hills School in Pleasanton, said their were a lot of young parent volunteers at her school as it serves kindergarten through third grades. The typical length of service is six weeks. Mrs. Honodel said volunteers should have respect for teachers' position. She recommended that job descriptions be written for volunteers. Many present felt that if the volunteer doesn't feel he or she is accomplishing something, they will leave.

Mrs. Allen noted that the recruiting ocess at her school is done through the Back-to-School Night. The parent is advised they DO NOT have to choose between being involved in the Early Childhood Education program and PTA.

She added that Marylin teachers do all

Phone mess

That push by Dublin Chamber of Commerce to gain a telephone directory just for the San Ramon - to Livermore area is understandable. But it does not detract from Pacific Telephone Company's negligence in meeting the reasonable needs of this one market

The confusion of "business directories" and "telephone directories" produced within this basin all financed by local business - is testimony to the refusal by PT&T to recognize the "community of interest" which prevails now in San Ramon, Dublin, Livermore, Pleasanton and Sunol. That same interest prevailed 20 years ago when PT&T insisted in spinning off "San Ramon Village" into the Contra Costa County telephone directory.

This newspaper fought that program then ... contending that Pacific Telephone was yielding to the desires of Volk and McClain, the Upper Amador Valley developers who saw greater profit by tieing their advertising program north into San Ramon and Walnut Creek. (V-M never did in fact build north of the county line.)

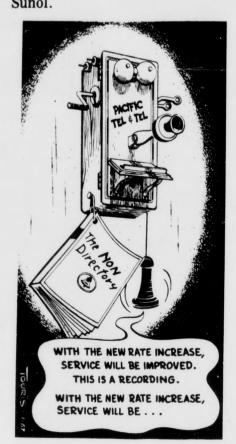

PT&T years later acknowledged some of their mistake by "making Contra Costa County and South Alameda County directories available to all Dublin and San Ramon residents who request both." Later still, there would be a "Livermore - Pleasanton Directory" that was ballyhooed as "a Yellow Page bargain for businesses in Livermore, Pleasanton and Dublin" while in fact that book still left Dublin - San Ramon tied to the Central Costa County Directory. A merchant seeking to reach that entire market must advertise in both of these directories.

Dublin Chamber seeks to avoid in promoting yet another directory ... this one embracing the five Valley communities, but again sponsored by local business. It will also add one more book for confused

Valley residents to stack alongside their telephones. What would make better sense — for local business and for Valley residents - is pressure upon PT&T to produce such an all - Valley directory, bringing together at last the "community of interest" which prevails from San Ramon to

Perhaps the Chambers of Commerce in those respective communities would unite in that campaign. Not even mighty PT&T It is this tremendous cost that can resist local logic forever.

One less parade

For those who participated, the "Good Times Parade" was a unique event of unparalleled fun; for those who worried about property values and litter, the radio -sponsored trek through downtown Pleasanton was "a costly mess, and for no good reason."

Either way, the parade made its mark, achieved its purpose, and can go down in the Valley archives ... along with the Fiesta del Vino, Holy Ghost Festival and all those other parties of yesteryear. There are even those who say the County Fair Parade has exhausted its appeal.
This generation is not one to carry an event strictly on its past record. When a venture has run its course, then it is time to cancel out. That was the thinking of Pleasanton city council when it advised KNBR - Radio — "It was fun, but we can no longer justify the public expense." Taxpayers will applaud that kind of thinking.

Stamped again

The word out of New York is that "trading stamps are about to make a big comeback." Before that day arrives, we wonder if consumers might not want to say a word or two?

Trading stamps are "a part of the cost of retailing merchandise"; they are therefore a part of the cost you pay for groceries, clothing, appliances etc. While an acknowledged "attraction to some buyers" the trading stamps are a doubtful addition to the price that every consumer must thereafter pay for that product ... whether or not you accept the stamps, lose them, or eventually give them to some deserving charity, as has become the popular mode.

The key concern is contained in yet another paragraph in that release out of New York. " ... discounting, the biggest competitor to stamps, is believed on the way out." As they are no longer able to slash their prices to the bone, major retailers are somehow able to tack garden hoses, golf clubs, plastic toys and plastic pleasures onto the price you pay for the family's groceries.

If ever we heard of a likely target for Consumer Action, this sure sounds like one.

FOCUS/Teacher frustration

'Ruts' unearthed

Just when contract negotiations in Valley school districts were bounding past the point of being tedious and heading full steam for boring and ridiculous, comes a quite clever and humorous play on "Roots," purportedly authored by the wife of a teacher in the Amador Valley

Joint High School District.
Entitled "Ruts," the attractively-done pamphlet story "stars" "Massuh Newlin," "Boss Man Decker," "Kunte Haga," "Chicken Woolworth," and "Uncle Tom Fischer," the latter presumably a reference to your's truly ence to your's truly.

This little ditty reportedly was passed out to teachers at Dublin High and Amador Valley High Friday.

Our copy, and those received by other newspapers, were delivered by Dr. Bruce Newlin, superintendent of the Amador and Pleasanton districts and unwitting co-star of the piece. We thanked "Massuh Newlin" and immediately launched into reading the 8-page pamphlet, which is a good illustration of what forms frustration take.

The school district says it is now attempting to find out where, when, and with whose funds, the pamphlet was accomplished. While there is a printing press at Dublin High and at other district facilities, there is no indication at all that any of these were utilized to print the Bob Hagler, Dublin principal, has verified the pamphlets were placed in teacher boxes at school Friday. And Ralph Laird, principal at Amador Valley, has stated they apparently were passed out at his school Monday. No report on whether Foothill staffers received any, though.

But let us not tarry a second longer in presenting excerpts from "Ruts." Please bear in mind that ALL of the following was authored by the wife of a teacher.

As the scene opens three men are sitting on a sunny veranda talking, laughing, swapping stories and drinking mint juleps. They are Massuh Newlin, Boss Man Decker, and Uncle Tom Fischer, a newsman from the local paper. Massuh

"Yessir, Uncle Tom Fischer, you're doing a mighty fine job of keeping the WHAT FOLKS informed on what those lazy, no-account teechers are up to. Yep, you told it straight when you let all WHAT FOLKS know how the teechers up and took a minimum day that one time. Well, we can't let them get away with that. We've got to set them up as an example, otherwise every no-account teecher in this great state is going to be runnin'

Boss Man Decker shifts nervously in his chair as he sees three figures approaching in the distance. He throws up his hands in despair, spilling his mint ju-lip. "Aw shucks, I was just enjoying my-self and now I have to talk to some teechers. Can't they get it through their thick heads that we're the Massuhs and they're the teechers and what we say

"You going to allow them on your property, Dr. Bruce?" asks Uncle Tom skepti-

"Don't rightly know, Uncle Tom. They should know better than to look a superintendent in the eye. Maybe we should all go inside and send out one of those 'house teechers' with a note. After all, we don't want to give them the idea they can talk to us any time at all. There's nothing more dangerous than a uppity teecher. He narrowed his eyes and spit. Now they've got that abolitionist organization, the CTA behind them. Pretty soon they'll get organized and before you know it, those teechers will be gettin' money from the WHAT FOLKS that should be goin' to me and other administrators.

The three teachers are boldly coming up the front steps. They are Kunte Haga, Chicken Woolworth, and Kizzie Conley. Chicken Woolworth is resplendent in a beat-up old hat with a rooster feather in it. He is holding up one of Massuh's game Boss Man Decker gets up and saunters over to block their way. "You take one more step, teecher, and you are goin' to have an official repri-mand faster than you can blink your

(We skip a few graphs during which "Chicken Woolworth" is accused of stealing one of "Massuh Newlin's" game Chicken Woolworth gently puts down the rooster. "Now ya'll knows, Massuh, dat he's yo' boss man, an' it ain't gonna mattuh what ah sez to defend maself. He always gwine to be on yo' side.

Kunte Haga intercedes, yassuh, Massuh. Das why us teechers needs bindin' arbitration. So's if ya'll accuses us o' sumpin, we can high tail it and git us a fair man who ain't on one side or t'otherden he kin settle da whole fracas.

The parody based on "Roots" goes on for another two pages, but you get the general idea of WHERE it's going.

Whoops, here comes the Massuh. Gotta' get my orders and remember not to look him in the eve!

As noted earlier, a clever piece....but I don't see where this is going to speed up negotiations toward settling a contract for 1976-77.

Letters to the Times

Been there too

Editor, The Times:

"Been There" has generalized unfairly. I am familiar with at least one kindergarten in Livermore — Arroyo Mocho and

Having spent a full morning recently observing the teachers, students and education in progress, I must "speak out."

Those teachers work extremely hard to: 1. individualize their program; 2. educate the children in a fun, interesting way and 3. create an atmosphere for learning and socialization.

An observer does an injustice to this program by a casual "inspection." What may appear to be recreational play is more apt to be a meaningful mathematics lesson or an exercise in self expression.

School administrators and school board members certainly should visit this classroom to see what a great job these teachers are doing — and they owe it to the teachers to spend adequate time *t least an hour or more!

In addition, these teachers definitely teach phonics and the children learn too! The day I observed the phonics lesson was in small groups (two — four children) using very effective instructional supplies.

Besides all this, Arroyo Mocho is an E.C.E. school and proud of it, I'm sure. Nancy Lindgren

Weather prayers

Editor, The Times: There is no way all those pious folk who are praying for divine intervention in the matter of weather can go wrong. Catholics and Protestants in the East are pleading for less snow and ice. Mormons and Methodists in the West are begging for Such prayers are sure to be answered. The snow in Buffalo will go away, and the rains will come again to Marin. One who mands though, like asking that the sun rise in the morning, or that the tides continue to come in daily. ...

Nor should the suppliant, no matter how imposing his status, be impatient. Thus, when the Pope requested prayers for a stop to all that killing in Ireland five or six years ago, his Holiness must continue to wait, maybe until all the Catholics have killed all the Protestants, or vice

It's strategically sound, too, to give some consideration to the deity's overall plan for the working out of mankind's salvation on earth. Thus, when the Zen Buddists in Sausalito ... pray, "May this house be safe from tigers," it's pretty certain that there will be no tigers there. ...

Back to the weather ... The best example is the priestly conjuror who gave a demonstration of his awesome powers. Facing the East, he commanded the wind to blow west. When it continued to blow east, he simply turned and faced the West, commanded the wind to blow west, and when it did, said triumphantly, "You

Mr. Jimmy Carter The White House Washington, 20500 Dear President Jim:

First off, I would like to apologize for the weather. I mean, no right - thinking (left - thinking?) American wants to saddle any new president with this kind of mess. Even those of us who didn't vote for you in November (and that means more than half of the nation's adult population) didn't plan on snow in Miami and a drought in the Sierras to launch your first term.

(Some Republicans of the old Watergate following were in fact trying to work up a disaster or two to get you started, but not even the best of political plumbers could have dreamed up a winter like

I want you to know that we Americans are praying for you, Mr. President. Every single day! (The Gallup survey shows Americans prayed for President Ford just once a week, or whenever he had an accident; Mr. Nixon was getting an average of two prayers per month until his final fumble over the tapes, at which point most prayerful people simply gave up; there is no evidence that anyone every prayed for President Johnson, since he seemed to be above that sort of thing.)

Anyway, what I really wanted to convey to you right now was thanks. On behalf of all those old fashioned Americans who still believe in marriage, the Latin liturgy, and taking our hat off when they play the National Anthem. We are grateful, Mr. President, for those thoughts you recently shared with members of your cabinet and your staff. "I don't want your families breaking up just because you felt a loyalty to me." Yessir, that's what you said.

You told them to be "good husbands and fathers first" and presidential aides second. You advised them to go straight home after a hard day at the White House, and not be dilly - dallying on the East Room couch until all hours.

I wonder, Mr. President, if you realize what this has done for married Americans! And those who are pledged to just one other adult — preferably of the opposite sex. Frankly, sir, we were beginning to feel like second class citizens. The stigma of being married, of being uni - sexual, even "normal" was getting to be more than a lot of us could bear.

Just the other day I heard about this guy (that's guy) who was denied a teaching job at UC Berkeley because word got around he had never practiced masturbation or sodomy, and had slept in the same bed for all of his adult life. (He was rejected for "failing to exhibit proper academic mobility." Our milkman (white, male, graduated in Bus Ed

... a typical otcast in today's society) told me about this friend of his (Stanford class of '74, history major, poor devil) who was working as a postal carrier. It was a temporary job until something opened up for him at Hungry Hunter.

> Anyway, this postal carrier was in line for advance to clerk, fourth class, but the civil service board refused to advance him ... they found out he took his family bowling every night during the ABC - TV showing of "ROOTS" ... charged him with inverse discrimination.

Yes, Mr. President, things have not been going well for us married, middle class Americans. They've taken away our pride, our heritage, our rosary beads. There's no more LIFE, and not much left of Saturday Evening Post. We can't unerstand most of what appears in the San Francisco Chronicle, and what we do understand is forbidden to us. (Just the other day that nice neighbor down the street broke down when she realized she had gone through her entire life without once having a bisexual relationship.)

I tell you, Mr. President, there's more than one of us would be thinking of ending it all right now ... if it weren't for the fact we're saddled with a lot of old - fashioned ideas about "the sanctity of life." We'd drown ourselves in illegal drugs ... but nobody in our crowd has the slightest idea of where to

That's why your words came just in time, sir. "I don't want loyal aides who have unhappy marriages," you said. "You'll be more useful to me and to your country if you get some exercise, spend time with your children and your spouses."

My goodness, Mr. President, have you any idea what your words did for those Americans who are still married, still having children (together), still clinging to ideas ike "going home to the little spouse every evening"?

It makes us realize that you meant what you said, Mr. President, when you promised to "give even the most forgotten minority in this nation the feeling that they too can belong.

Earl G. Waters Boondoggle

C. Northcote Parkinson, the eminent scholar who gained world prominence with his "Parkinson's Law," an all too true tenet that explains the growth of bureaucracy with the observation that "Work expands to fill the time available for completion," made another criticism of government which apparently is now being recognized by Legislative Analyst Alan Post and others.

"There is a proportionate size which goes with maximum efficiency and all our institutions tend o exceed it," Parkinson wrote. Pointing out that the eruption of rioting throughout the world has been the result of the belief that political and industrial bureaucracies are so great they seem berond the power of the people to influence he says, If this conclusion is wrong it is for our rulers to prove it by forming new organizations on a more human scale."

While scandals have been more the case than riots or demonstrations with California's massive tors," could have acquiesced to the creation of that this gargantuan bureaucracy is unmanageable in its present form and should be dismantled.

Post, although not an architect of the 1972 reorganization plan which created the huge agency which employes more than 45,000 and eats up one third of the total $15 billion state budget, concurred in its formation. He now says "The consolidation has proven to be a substantial failure. Therefore we ought to admit our mistake and take corrective

In a most unbureaucratic manner Mario Obledo announced support for the idea of decentralizing the agency he heads stating "the consolidation has not worked very well." And, in obvious agreement, Senate Health Committee chairman Arlen Gregorio disclosed hp has prepared a legislative package to break-up at least one segment of the agency. the Health Department which administers more than 100 programs with 22,000 employees.

Incredibly, the agency came into being during the administration of Governor Ronald Reagan. No one yet understands how Reagan who, in his own words, gave up acting "in an effort to make people aware of the danger to freedom in a vast permanent government structure so big and complex it virtually entraps Presidents and legisla-

Either he was distracted by dreams of the White House or his fears of being entrapped by big government were well fpunded. In any event the fact that he created by far the biggest governmental agency in state history is blithely ignored as he continues his speechmaking roundly condemning "big government."

Gregorio's plan would replace the present Health Department with a number of new departments, some under the names which they had before the consolidation and some with new and more elaborate titles. Welfare payments would be han-dled under a restored Social Welfare Department and most public health functions would be placed under a restored Public Health Department. New departments would emerge to manage health assistance payments and alcohol and drug abuse programs. These would be given pretentious names while a new department for senior citizen problms would be called simply the Department of Aging. Employment would be restored as the Department of Employment and housed, along with Rehabilitation and Industrial Relations in a new agency called the Labor Agency.

DEAR DR. LAMB - My husband was one of those unfortunate men who discovered he had cancer of the prostate too late. He was only 54 and his last months were terrible, both psychologically and medically. I appreciate your warning the public about this. Isn't there some way the men can be made more aware of this danger?

many people can be cured of cancer, there is no mention of cancer of the prostate at all or the best method to find it. The way to find it is with a simple finger examination of the rectum. Every male needs to know this and needs to know that he should have such an examination once a year after he reaches age 40. We are not going to save the thousands of men dying from cancer of the prostate until this is understood and accomplished. There is no useful public education program about it.

The American Cancer Society predicts the total of deaths from prostate cancer in 1976 will be 19,300 and only 7,700 from cancer of the cervix and 3,300 from cancer of the body of the uterus. With these kinds of figures why is there no program for public education and a program for early detection and treatment

North's two-notrump response followed by the raise from three hearts to four hearts are normal. South might well follow up by merely bidding six hearts, but there is some chance for North to hold the ace of diamonds. In any event, assuming North is a good player, South can afford to bid five clubs.

North knows that this is an effort to reach six or seven. He has shown nothing at all up to this point so he bids five diamonds. This can only be interpreted as showing the ace and South bids seven hearts.

One of the more complicated and controversial new duplicate rules concerns the correction of scores. Under the old rules, if the score was entered as four spades making five and both sides agreed later on that it was four spades making just four, the score could be corrected. The new rule will be explained tomorrow.

Valentine's Dance

DUBLIN - The Methodist Youth Fellowship of Valley United Methodist Church, meeting at Camp Parks, is sponsoring a Valentine's Dance, for high school age and older, on Saturday, Feb. 12, at 7:30

The main thrust of the Orthodox Church position has been that the responsibility of the Christian Church is to seek the Kingpreach the gospel of Jesus His talk was sponsored by St. Michael's Orthodox Mission of Walnut Creek, Certainly should not become associated with politiing hall of the United Meth- cal movements. This in no odist Church on Sunnyvale way detracts from the the Ave., Walnut Creek. Fr.
Meyendorff's presentation centered around the worknor does it preclude positions on moral issues.

> His talk included some interesting insights into religion in the Soviet Union, on how difficult it is for young men to enter seminaries. In one case, two hundred applicants showed up for fifty vacancies. Each applicant first had to apply to the civil authorities in his home town for the right to move, often giving up his job and jeopardizing his family's position. Having burned his bridges behind him, the applicant then travelled to the seminary site and applied for acceptance. Those three-quarters who were rejected often found themselves in very untenable positions. But despite all of these hurdles, men keep trying to obtain religious training. It should be noted that religious instruction can be given only after the age of eighteen.

Fr. Meyendorff is currently Professor of Church History and Patristics at St. Vladimir's Seminary, New York, and lectures at Harvard University, Dumbarton Oaks. He has been guest lecturer at various universities and seminaries including Columbia, Union Theological Seminary, Fordham and the Orthodox Institute, Paris. He is fluent in English, French and Russian. He is also the author of several books on theological subjects, and is the editor of various Orthodox publications.

The former San Ramon catcher is now sitting the bench for the U.C. Berkeley varsity and not enjoying it one bit.

"Philadelphia and someone from the scouting bureau said they'd draft me after high school," Miller said.

"Those bastards lied." Miller is in his second semester at the Berkeley campus, having been accepted only a few days before classes started.

He achieved a decent report card, two "C's and a "B". But the mustachioed Miller obviously has his heart set on a major league career, not a life-time student.

'Now, I can't get drafted until six months out of school," he said. When a player is out at a four-year college, he must be out of college six months before he'll be available in the next draft, according to Miller.

If you require a good,

THE NATURAL GAS SHORTAGE HAS BECOME A NATIONAL EMERGENCY.

To meet the situation, the California Public Utilities Commission has ordered all of us to cut down our use of natural gas.

For some time, it has been clear that the nation's dwindling natural gas supplies were approaching the crisis stage. Now, the crisis is here. And none of us is exempt from its effects.

HERE'S THE SITUATION

In compliance with the President's goals and directives, our state Public Utilities Commission has ordered the curtailment of Californians' use of natural gas. And it has approved PG&E's transfer of large amounts of natural gas to eastern areas for essential uses.

The crisis goes far beyond this winter's weather-related gas shortage. There may never again be abundant supplies of gas anywhere in the nation—even in California, which is relatively well supplied today. All Californians are asked to eliminate uses of natural gas that are beyond the minimum needs of human comfort, that are not an industrial necessity, and that are not required to meet air quality standards.

HERE'S WHAT THE COMMISSION'S ORDER SAYS:

Prohibitions, Conservation and Curtailment Provisions

(a) ADVERTISING AND DECORATIVE LIGHTING

(1) Natural gas shall not at any time be caused or permitted to be used for outdoor decorative lighting, torches, flares, or any similar form of gas lighting.

(2) Natural gas shall not at any time be caused or permitted to be used for indoor decorative purposes, such as artificial fireplace logs, except in such cases as such use of natural gas is primarily for the purpose of space heating and human comfort.

(b) COMFORT HEATING AND COOLING

(1) During business hours, natural gas should not, at any time, be caused or permitted to be used in any commercial or industrial establishments to provide heat to raise the temperature therein above 65°F, except where other temperatures are specifically required by law, or for medical reasons.

(2) Natural gas used by all hotel, motel, and similar guest accommodation establishments and restaurants should not be used to heat vacant guest rooms. The 65°F temperature in occupied rooms should be reduced to 55°F during sleeping hours, except where other temperatures are required by law.

(3) Natural gas should not be caused or permitted to be used by residences, apartments and condominiums above 65°F during the active hours of the day and not above 55° during the sleeping hours, except for medical reasons and where other temperatures are required by law.

(c) OUTDOOR PUBLIC GATHERINGS

Natural gas should not be caused or permitted to be used for recreational or cultural activities without a reasonable reduction of the normal or usual amount used by that customer for the same, or similar, activities.

(d) INDOOR BUSINESS HEATING

(1) Natural gas shall not be caused or permitted to be used for heating the interior of any business establishment during that period of time that said establishment is not carrying on the usual and customary activities of that business.

(2) Notwithstanding the provisions of subsection (d) (1) hereof, a business establishment may provide sufficient heating at all times to provide a minimal level required to prevent pipe freezing

(3) Nothing in these subsections shall be construed to hinder or prohibit ordinary and customary maintenance and janitorial services at times other than those during which the business establishment is carrying on the usual and customary activities of that business.

(e) SWIMMING POOL HEATING Natural gas shall not be caused or permitted to be used for the purpose of swimming pool heating unless such heating is required for medical purposes.

(f) COMMERCIAL AND INDUSTRIAL PROCESS

Every effort should be made to reduce natural gas usage.

HERE'S WHAT YOU SHOULD DO

The success of the Commission's order depends in large measure on the cooperation that Americans traditionally give in national emergencies.

In that spirit, there are many things you can and should do—if you haven't already—in addition to what the Order requires. They are mainly the things PG&E has been urging you to do:

Insulate and weatherstrip.
Make sure your furnace is working efficiently and that the	filter is clean.

☐ Keep your fireplace damper closed when not in use. ☐ Close your drapes at night, or when the sun's not shining in,

☐ Keep the temperature setting on your hot-water tank no higher than 140 degrees, or "medium."

Use hot water sparingly, with shallow baths and short showers.

☐ Use full loads only, in clotheswashers, dryers, and dishwashers. Use your gas range no more than is necessary.

☐ Wear warm clothes indoors to make up for lack of heat. ☐ Do all the things your intelligence can suggest to save natural gas.

PGandE

Together, we can do it.
